

Google Play store App Performance & User Engagement Analytics

Overview

Popularity & Engagement

Ratings & Pricing

10K

147bn

4bn

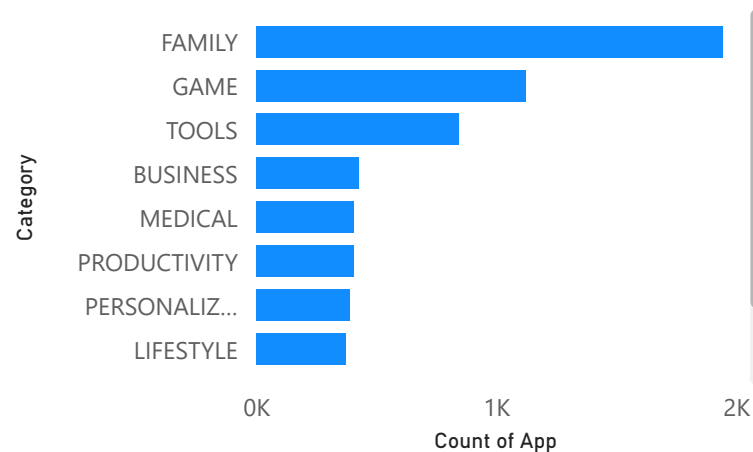

4.20

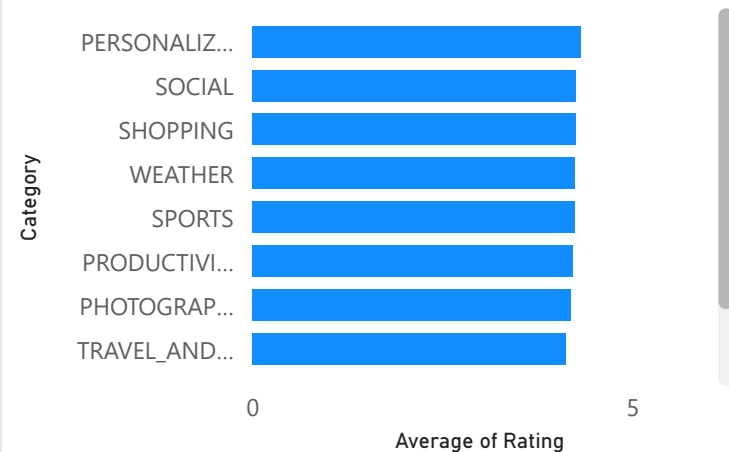

753

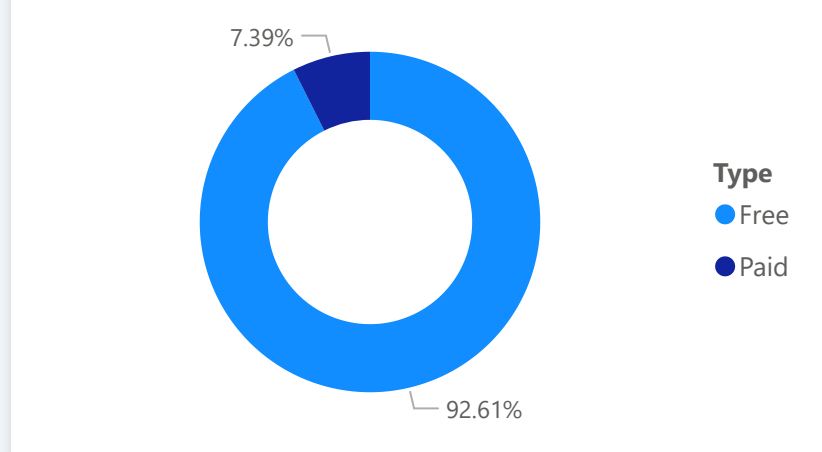

App by Category

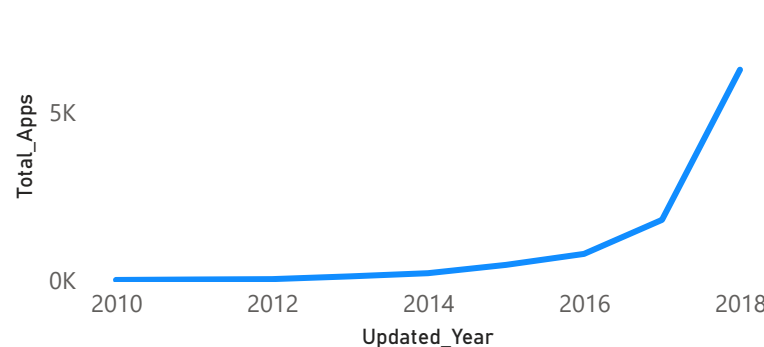

Category by Rating

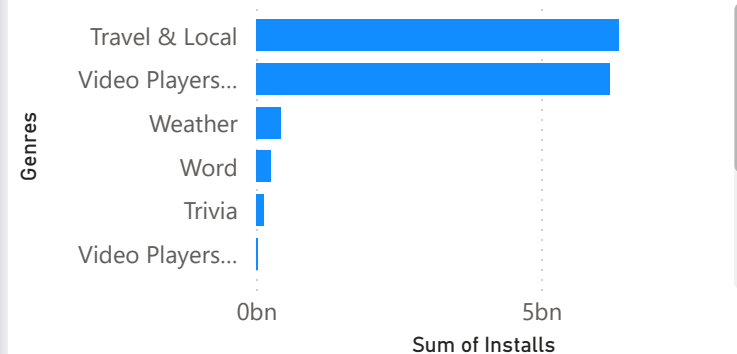

Free VS Paid Apps

Apps Updated by Year

Sum of Installs by Genres

Key Insights:

- Free apps dominate the dataset, representing 92.6% of apps.
- The dataset contains 10K apps with 147B total installs.
- Apps have an overall average rating of 4.20, indicating generally positive user feedback.
- Highly installed apps tend to receive more reviews, indicating stronger user engagement.

Popularity & User Engagement

Overview

Popularity &...

Ratings & Pricing

Category

All

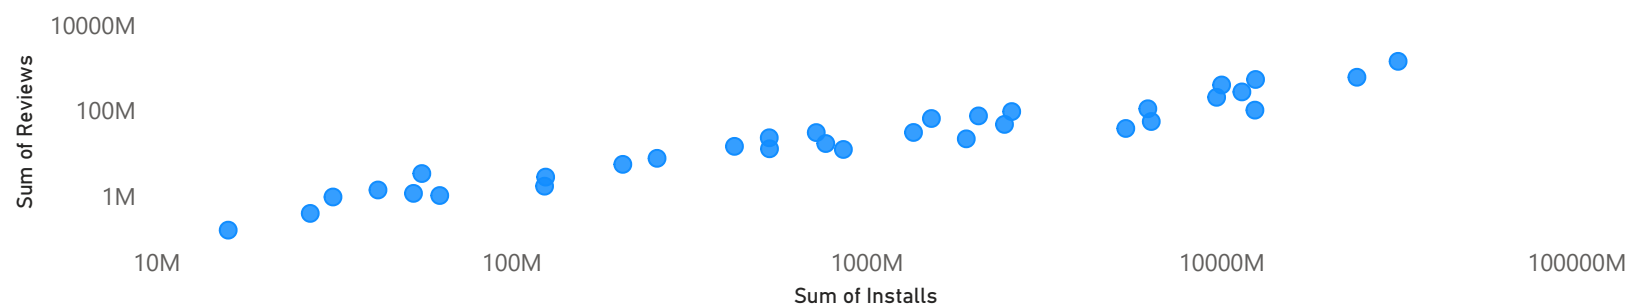

Genres

All

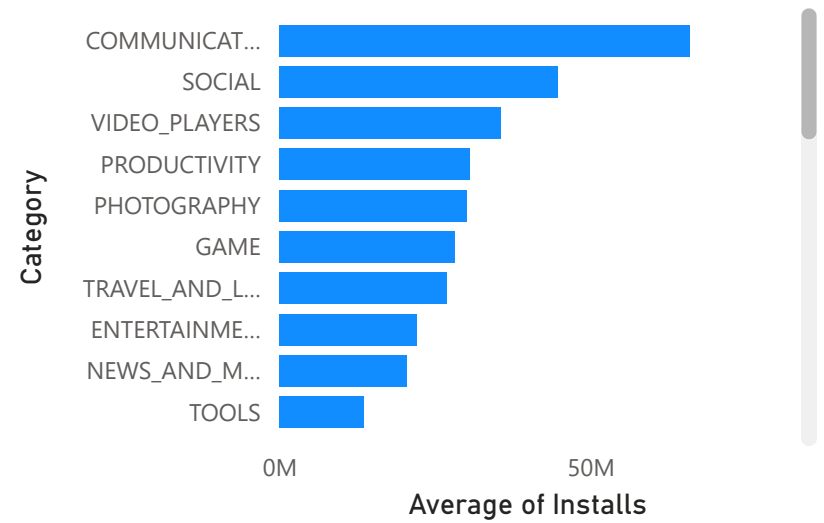

Popularity_category

All

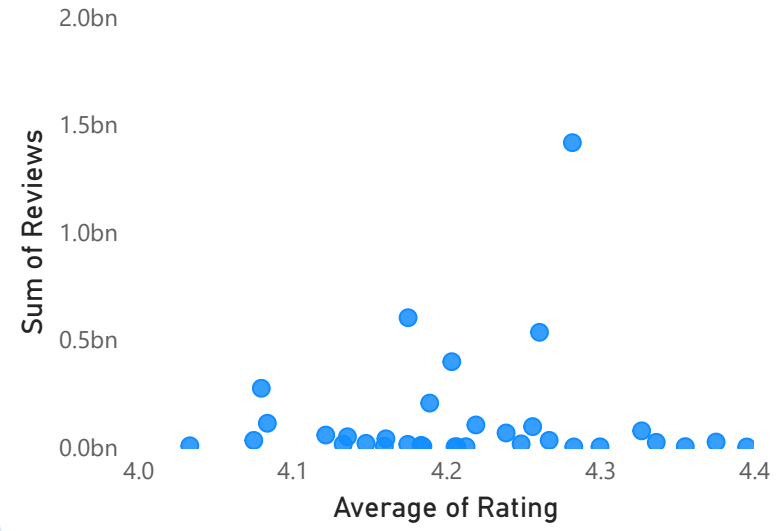

Review Vs Install

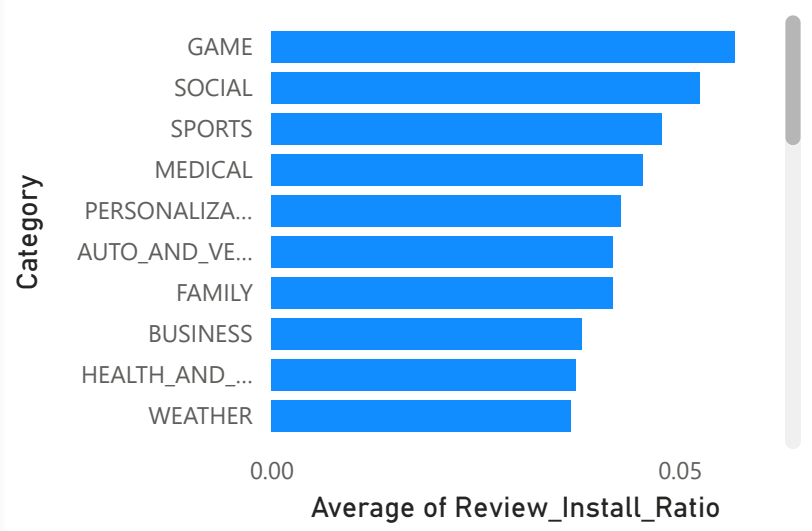

Average of Installs by Category

Rating vs Reviews by Category

Review-to-Install Ratio by Category

Key Insights

- Target high-install categories to reach larger user segments.
- Improve user experience to increase reviews and engagement.
- Encourage genuine reviews to strengthen app visibility and credibility.
- Focus on high review-to-install categories to improve user engagement.
- Prioritize marketing in high-performing categories to drive more installations.

Overview

Popularity & Engagement

Ratings & Pricing

Ratings & Pricing

Category

All

Genres

All

Content Rating

All

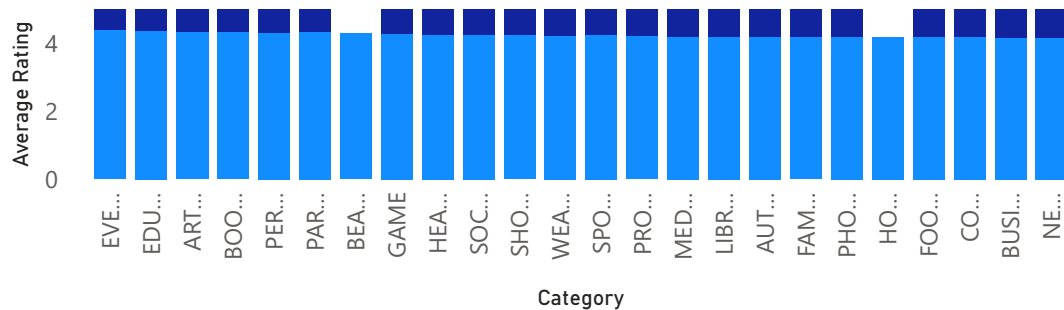

Reviews vs Rating

Type ● Free ● Paid

Average Rating by Category and Type

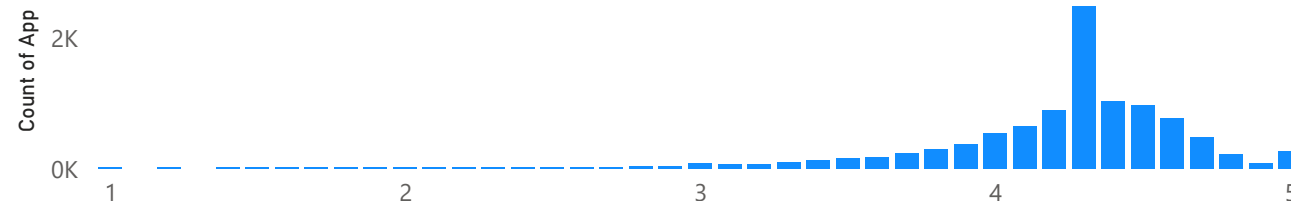

Type ● Free ● Paid

Paid App Price Distribution.

Rating Distribution

Key Insights

- Free apps dominate the Google Play Store, showing a strong preference for free.
- Highly installed apps generally receive more reviews, indicating stronger user engagement.
- Ratings are relatively stable across most app categories, with only moderate variation.
- A few categories account for a large share of apps and installations, highlighting their popularity.
- Popular apps tend to combine high installations and user reviews, indicating stronger market reach.